We're here at 57 Painted Feather Way in The Ridges, hosting a spectacular private event.

Our guests all have smiles on their faces, and they're savoring big bites of the Lobster Cavatelli—all washed down with plenty of Cuvee du Vatican Chateauneuf du Pape.

This home is perfect for entertaining a party of this size.

We have over a hundred attendees, including luxury home owners from The Ridges and nearby communities, as well as past and current clients.

Marché Bacchus is here with a great spread of gourmet bites: Beef Wellington, Truffled Goat Cheese Napoleon, Lobster Cavatelli, and Ahi Tuna Tartare to name a few.

We've also got magician Jason Bird blowing people's minds with his sleight of hand, a live painting performance by the talented LA artist Ann McFerran, and a full-on Scotch tasting upstairs.

Right out front, we also have some incredible cars from our sponsor, Jaguar Land Rover Las Vegas.

This event is proving to be an effective way of showcasing this home, which we're selling for $3,999,000.
